Would Canada Join Us?
She Ate in the White House
Pity This Husband
A Prayer to Thieves

The honorable Gus Kasch, representating Summit county in Ohio's House of Representatives, suggested that England pay her debt to Uncle Sam by giving us Canada. This column suggested that Canada would say:

"NO."

Mr. Kasch writes that Canadians might decide that "a great union of the English-speaking people on the North American continent would be worth more to them, with trade barriers removed, than to be tied up with God and the king and they might eventually decide to come in with us. They can teach us considerable about how to operate a State-owned railroad and a decent banking system, we really need them more than they need us."

Canada could teach us, no doubt, for no depositor has lost a dollar in a Canadian bank for many years, while we have had bank failures in thousands. The question is, do we want to learn?

Mrs. Pattie Willis South, 81 years old, of Nicholasville, Kentucky, always wanted to eat one meal in the White House "to compare the President's cooking with my own." Mrs. South, called "Ma" South, ran a hotel for many years.

Mrs. Roosevelt invited her. "Ma" South wishes she could have taken the White House bill of fare for a souvenir and told reporters that having been invited to the White House "now my aim is to get into Heaven." In Heaven she will meet many that have never eaten in the White House, and will have interesting things to tell them, through all eternity.

A remarkable lady is Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, remarkable for energy, kindness and good judgment. Planning a trip to California, to visit her son, she was advised to fly by day and rest at night. She decided to fly day and night to save time.

In this saving of time, and in her constant travel by airplane, Mrs. Roosevelt sets an example of greatest value to the nation's air industry.

Violently interesting is the queer, deep sea fish-husband that spends its life clinging to its huge mate. If it lets go, the practical wife eats it, and lives a widow until another husband attaches itself to her.

This deep-sea fish, called photocorynus spiniceps, is more pathetic than the husband of the deep sea parasite crab, fifty times smaller than its wife, living under one of her filppers.

The wife of spiniceps, possessing a phosphorescent glow, attracts many would-be husbands, and decours nine out of ten, as they approach. When one slips by the wife's wide mouth, it fastens, with its sharp teeth, on to some part of the body, lives on her blood, which she does not miss, and they begin housekeeping.

New York Natural History Museum will soon show one of these strange couples, from the Atlantic and Carribbean deep waters, the husband hanging on, just above the wife's eye.

Mother nature, determined to perpetuate every species, manages it somehow. The female spider, many times bigger than her mate, devours him, when he approaches with the best of intentions, unless he is very cautious.

Nimble, jumping backward and forward, as Fabre tells you, he studies the fat creature that awaits him. Woe unto him, if he comes too close, when her mind is on luncheon, not on matrimony.

Senor Vincente Murill Gonzales of Managua, Nicaragua, is not rich and when thieves robbed him, "leaving me with only the suit I have on," he issued a newspaper front page advertisement. The first businesslike appeal to thieves on record.

"Prayer to the thieves in Managua. I earnestly request the thieves of Managua that they do not steal from the poor, like me. If the theives steal from the poor, these will have to become thieves also, and the thieves' business will be ruined in the end."

Recently, at Boulder Dam, Uncle Sam, proving that he can do big things in a big way, if "best minds" and Congress will let him, poured the first cubic yard in the concrete arched wall that will be 730 feet high, 1,180 feet wide, and will hold back and control the waters of the Colorado.

It will take two years to pour the five million, five hundred thousand barrels of concrete. Back of that wall, surface waters from six States will be held back. The great task will be finished in August, 1935, and cost $165,000,000. Pray that, unlike the Muscle Shoals project, this new power plant will be used from the start, for the benefit and profit of the people that built and paid for it.

Mr. Hitler advances new ideas. Women must stay in the home, to attend to things there. They must not earn a living for themselves, as they have been doing, often competing with men.

Pro Arte String Quartet Is First

The famous Pro Arte String Quartet of Belgium, reputed to be the greatest string quartet in the world, will open the Summer Series of the Carmel Music Society on Tuesday evening, June 27, in the Sunset School auditorium.

This is the first year that the Carmel Music Society has offered a summer of chamber music. The series of seven concerts for the exceedingly low sum of six dollars opens with the distinguished Pro Arte String Quartet, thus beginning the season with the greatest chamber music group that the world knows. Not once, but twice, does the Carmel Music Society offer the Pro Artes, on the two Tuesday evenings of June 27 and July 11.

The Pro Arte String Quartet comes to Carmel from Mills College where it is giving a series of twelve chamber concerts to the Mills summer course.

Two weeks after the Pro Artes on July 25, is the first Orchestra concert, Michel Penha conducting. Two soloists make this orchestra concert a very extraordinary event. Winifred Howe, pianist, will play the Bach Piano Concerto in d minor with orchestral accompaniment, and little Miriam Soloveff, child wonder violinist, will also play a concerto with the orchestra.

On August 1 comes the first session of the Penha Piano Quartet, with Abas, Weiss, Penha and Linsley.

Throughout the season come the open rehearsals, the orchestra every Sunday evening, and the Penha Quartet on Monday evenings. These rehearsals are open to season ticket holders for the nominal charge of ten cents.

In providing a chamber music series with open rehearsals, the Carmel Music Society is doing the biggest thing that it has ever done and the most significant. Who that heard the Beethoven Piano Quartet the other evening could help but thrill at the opportunity to become familiar with a great classic by the repeated hearing of the perfected work of phrases now well-known—and who could help but support such a civic enterprise by subscribing to its series and contributing toward its permanence by attending its concerts. The single seat sale for the first concert opens Tuesday June 27, in the Denny-Watrous Gallery. Mail orders are already being received.

MISS DOUGLASS WRITES ABOUT HER GOOD TIMES

A letter was received this week from Miss Mary Douglass, who, with Mrs. Maude Hogle, is enjoying a stay in the south. She writes that they are making their headquarters at Sierra Madre but take many interesting side trips. Last week they stopped at the Oceanside postoffice and chatted with Bill Titmas, who was at one time an assistant in the Carmel postoffice. They enjoyed a visit to Long Beach and Del Mar.

Judge Ben Lindsey Pleases Carmelites

Judge Ben Lindsey has come and gone. Last Friday evening at the Denny-Watrous gallery, he spoke for two hours on "Human Relations," and his talk was appreciated most highly.

He told of some of the interesting cases that had come under his jurisdiction while he was judge of the juvenile court in Denver. He had handled the cases by "getting off the bench" and talking to his clients as man to man. During his tenure of office, not one of the boys whom he sent to the reform school, attempted to make a get-away, although he sent them without guard.

Judge Lindsey gave as the reason for his getting in bad with the Denver lawyers, the fact that he made every effort to settle all cases out of court, dispensing with their services.

The last ten or fifteen minutes of his talk, the Judge devoted to "companionate" marriage.

To his listeners, it appeared as if he simply believed in easy divorce, after every effort had been made toward reconciliation. Had he made the statement to that effect, it would have been readily understandable, but would not, of course have brought him so much publicity.

MASONS WILL HAVE ANOTHER POT LUCK

To take "pot luck" with the Masons is a privilege, for they certainly do have good times at their club house on Lincoln just about every so often when they all bring covered dishes and spread their dinner on their long table and enjoy a social hour.

Masons and their invited friends are privileged to attend these affairs and they look forward to them with a great deal of pleasure.

HELEN TURNER RECEIVES SHOWER FROM FRIENDS

Miss Helen Turner, who is to be married on Saturday to Gene Ricketts of Stockton, was the recipient of a miscellaneous shower given for her by Mrs. John Bell and Mrs. Laurence Melrose at Mrs. Bell's home Tuesday evening.

She received many lovely and useful things. Refreshments were served, and the evening spent in playing bridge. High honors went to Mrs. Ann Nichols, second to Mrs. Hasty and third to Mrs. Grace Hobson.

Guests who enjoyed the evening were Miss Helen Turner, Mrs. Manning Tarr, Mrs. Arthur Hilbert, Mrs. Neil Twilegar, Mrs. Ivan Kelsey, Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Hasty, Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Ann Nichols, Miss Dorothy Benson, Miss Mildred Pearson, Miss Ida Burge, Miss Alice McCarthy and Miss Grace Hobson.

A Real Caliope at Carmel Street Fair

By Robert Welles Ritchie

All the archives of Carmel from away back when a corner lot could be traded for a horse and buggy, fail to show there ever was a calliope in the "Town that Is Different." Poets there have been who composed deathless rhymes while walking barefooted in dewey grass, writers who lived up a tree. But never that siren-voiced little sister of the muses.

A calliope will be among those present at Carmel's Street Fair July 1. It is the chief pet of Cherry Vosmer, old-time circus man now in Monterey. Vosmer says that, like Schumann-Heinke, his calliope sings better the older she gets. He's now oiling the old girl's pipes in preparation for her rendition of "A Hot Time in the Old Town" along about four of the afternoon of July 1.

Vosmer also promises three old-time circus acts never before seen on the peninsula. He has communicated with several of the artists who used to travel with his Big Tent and who now are in retirement in San Francisco. They have indicated their willingness to come down to Carmel and do their stuff for the benefit of the Red Cross and Unemployment commission, joint beneficiaries of the big event. So buy your circus popcorn early.

Another revival, unique in Carmel experience, will be an old fashioned competitive cake walk such as was the rage when jazz used to be called "turkey trot" away back yonder. Mrs. Ed Warner, who used to travel with her husband in the old Primrose and West Minstrels, kings of the black-face stage, is reproducing a tabloid minstrel show after the Primrose-West pattern. The cake walk will be its big feature. And Zip, the Warner trick dog, also in present retirement from the footlights, will cake-walk himself, just to show the younger generation how it's done.

Monterey and Pacific Grove merchants are cooperating with the Street Fair committee, especially in assisting Mrs. Bob Parrott and her committee in preparing for the biggest job of the whole show. Mrs. Parrott's helpers are counting on feeding upwards of four thousand hungry mouths at the barbecue to be held in Carmel Park. Never before has such a mass production of food been attempted in Carmel.

Coffee by the hundred pounds, sugar, salad material and pies are being pledged by peninsula merchants to further Mrs. Parrott's undertaking. Two prime steers and plenty of lambs already are marked for the roasting spits.

Miss Marjory Pegram left today for New York, going by way of Reno, Salt Lake, Denver and Chicago and stopping at the fair at the last named city. She is motoring through with a party driven by Lane Edwards of Monterey.

Furniture Disappears Landlord Howls

The taking ways of tenants were amply demonstrated this week in Judge Wood's court when Frank Roach, landlord of a cottage at Eighth and Mission, met his ex-tenant in court to demand the return of his furniture.

Roach, on being asked what had been taken, replied that it might be better to ask what had been left. The lady, it seems, removed all movables, and not content to stop at that, took with her the front steps, which, Roach says, were well planted there when she moved in over a year ago.

The lady, on being asked where the dishes had disappeared, told the court that she had removed them to her new home to wash them, leaving behind only those cracked and dirty ones which seemed not worth bothering with.

An impasse was reached when the ex-tenant announced that she would not return the furniture as she could not afford to rent a truck, and the landlord stated that he would not put out a dollar to regain what she had removed, but the landlord weakened in the end, and the little cottage on Mission street is to be refilled with its belongings, minus a few vases, salt cellars and locks which seem to have disappeared into thin air.

The Business and Professional Women of the Monterey Peninsula are planning a picnic at Asilomar next Thursday night, June 22.

Popular Carmel Girl Dies In Hospital

Death yesterday took Miss Kissam Johnson, popular Carmel girl, whose sudden illness two weeks ago so shocked the community. Seemingly in perfect health, Miss Johnson was taken ill suddenly, and rushed to a local hospital, where an operation was performed. She lingered between life and death for a numbr of days, when she was operated on again in a desperate effort to save her life, but it was unsuccessful.

Miss Johnson had lived in Carmel for the past ten years with her mother, Mrs. Delie Kissam Johnson, who with her brother, Philip Johnson, survives the young girl.

Miss Johnson played a prominent part in the social life of the peninsula, and had a host of friends.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow, Friday morning, at 11 o'clock at All Saints church. Cremation at Santa Cruz will follow. Freeman's mortuary is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

CARMEL GIRL REGISTERS AT MARINE LABORATORY

Miss Edith Dickinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dickinson, will be among the graduate research workers to enroll at the Hopkins Marine Laboratory this summer.

The laboratory, a part of the Stanford university, closed its spring quarter on June 3rd, and will reopen on June 22nd, when 27 students and 18 research workers will register for classes.

SIAMESE COURT MUSIC LECTURE BY COWELL

The music of Siam, Cambodia and Anam will be demonstrated and discussed by Henry Cowell in his next lecture at the Denny-Watrous gallery, scheduled for Saturday, the 17th.

Full music of the Siamese court will be heard, and promises to be one of the most interesting in the whole series.

FOLK WILL PICNIC AT BIG SUR SUNDAY

L. L. Benson, agent for the Farmers' Automobile Inter Insurance Exchange, announces a picnic at Stanley's Park, Big Sur, Sunday, June 18. Those who go are requested to take a basket lunch and should anyone desire broiled or barbecued meat, the committee will do the work for them. The committee will also furnish sugar and milk.

Everybody is welcome and a fine time is anticipated.

Mrs. Stephen W. Downie and her two daughters of Sacramento are staying with Mrs. Grace Rodgers for a month.

INTERESTING CARMEL

Interesting things about Carmel

PENHA'S REHEARSALS A RARE TREAT

"Who is playing low G? Who is playing low G?" We got all excited ourselves at the open rehearsal Sunday night of the Monterey Peninsula orchestra, until the question was solved.

We held both ears straight up and listened intently but it was Michel Penha, the director, himself, who solved the mystery. Someone was dragging his bow across the G string on his way to the D.

Chiding, questioning, browbeating, yet good natured withal, Michel Penha leads his orchestra on to victory over the most difficult aggregations of notes.

Just when the players would get that "ain't I good?" look on their faces, Penha would wail, "Nono." Or "Is that marked crescendo or isn't it marked crescendo?"

We could not help but think Carmel people as a whole do not realize the pleasure of attending an open rehearsal. For of course, it isn't all scoldings, and starting over. The exquisite music is there in plenty to pay one for the little time and money expended.

It is easy to realize how the orchestra can give such a performance as they gave in the spring if you attend one of these practice meetings. Take our advice and attend the next open rehearsal, next Sunday evening at eight o'clock at the DennyWatrous gallery.

P. S. We're going to attend the open rehearsal of the quartet at the gallery next Monday evening. You won't want to miss that one either.

If you happened to be, or were fortunate enough to be among the crowd who enjoyed the music at the Denny-Watrous gallery Monday night, you know they are going to play again next Monday night. We could not help but think what a rare privilege it is for music lovers to live in Carmel, or even to be able to come here for the summer and listen to such artists as Michel Penha, Nathan Abas, Abraham Weiss and Howard Linsley in a program such as they gave Monday night. It is true they were rehearsing, but it is no less true that their music was the best of the best. Nearly every available seat was filled and if you want to be one of the fortunate next Monday night, you better go a little early.

With the renewed interest in music in Carmel, caused by the activities of the Carmel Music society, many folk are stopping at Frank's to see the fine violins he has in stock. Nathan Abas was among tho visitors and he played on the old Hopf, a German violin made more than 300 years ago. Mr. Abas was delighted, of course, though he himself owns a Stradivarius valued at $20,000, and although it has nothing to do with Frank's violins, Michel Penha's cello is valued at $15,000. Mr. Frank has a violin made in Russia about one hundred years ago, and two old ones of French make. Mr. Frank is a musician, himself, and handles these instruments with loving care, but he is delighted to show them to other music lovers.

FLOWER ENTHUSIASTS TO MAKE PILGRIMAGE

Beautiful gardens in the Highlands will be the objective of the pilgrimage to be made Thursday, June 22, by members of the garden section of the Woman's club.

Among the gardens which will be visited are those of Dr. Margaret Levick and Miss Pitkins, as well as others of outstanding beauty.

With the gardens at their loveliest as they are at this season of the year, it is expected that a large number of flower enthusiasts will want to make the visit, and members who have cars can help to make the pilgrimage possible for others by getting in touch with Mrs. Hugh Comstock at 526J.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

Scoring an increase of 44 per cent over the 1932 month, transport passengers handled through the United Airport at Los Angeles in May totaled 2096, as compared with 1453 in May last year, it was reported recently.

Rheba Crawford Splivalo, director of the State Department of Social Welfare, may sign a contract to preach at the Angelus Temple when Aimee Semple McPherson returns from Europe in October or November, she is reported to have stated in Los Angeles recently. Signing of such a contract would mean the former "Angel of Broadway" would give up her state position.

San Francisco's construction forces moved one step nearer the completion of the Hetch Hetchy water system recently. Crews "holed through" the last section of the 22,448-foot tunnel between Mitchell and Thomas shafts in the Coast range mountains late in the afternoon. At midnight the new shaft had cleared the tunnel to its full length.

Wild pigeons have invaded the cherry districts around Santa Cruz and Soquel, and are threatening heavy losses to the 1933 crop. They not only eat the ripe fruit, but are eating the green cherries as well, which is said to be decidedly unusual. In addition to eating the fruit the pigeons apparently enjoy picking the fruit, as quantities of green cherries are found under the trees.

No less than 20,239 adults and juveniles, found guilty of crime, are on probation in California—enough to make up a small city. The total includes 8,182 men, 581 women, 7,987 boys and 3,489 girls, according to the State Welfare Department. Probation officers collect approximately $70,000 a month covering support of dependants, restitution for loss of property and fines made a condition of probation.

June 27, the day when a special election will be held throughout the State, will be a legal holiday. Jess Hession, deputy Attorney General, said that while the day will be a legal holiday, no business will be compelled to close its doors. Certain judicial acts, Hession said, may be illegal if performed on the holiday. Public offices and State institutions need not suspend business under Hession's opinion.

Addition of eight cities to the State police teletype system is authorized under emergency appropriation measures approved by Governor Rolph, according to announcement by the State Bureau of Criminal Identification. The new additions, bringing the teletype network total up to twenty-six cities, are Marysville, Stockton, Vallejo, Santa Rosa, Madera, Redwood City, Santa Ana and Ventura.

The penalty for kidnaping in California was increased from ten years to life imprisonment under the terms of a bill signed by Governor Rolph. The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Frank G. Martin, Altadena newspaperman, provides that persons convicted of kidnaping shall be punished by life imprisonment without possibility of parole in cases where the victim or victims suffer bodily harm, or by life imprisonment with possibility of parole in cases where no violence is inflicted and upon recommendation of the trial jury or in the discretion of the trial judge.

Palo Verde recently completed its first gopher drive, with the result that 1566 of the field pests were exterminated by local school children in a thirty-day contest to see which youngster could account for the most of the little animals. The contest was sponsored by the local newspaper and $21 in cash prizes and $15.66 in bounty money was paid the youthful hunters. Merchants, farmers and the Palo Verde Irrigation District furnished the prize and bounty funds. All school children in the valley were eligible in the contest. Gopher tails were brought to the newspaper office, registered and destroyed. Winners of the first three cash prizes were Bill Smith, Paul DeMeyer, and Ray Hopman. Pocket gophers are the despair of irrigation districts and alfalfa growers and the valley people are so pleased with the results achieved by the school youngsters that already other similar contests are being discussed.

The kissing bug is not a youthful fancy, but a parasite carrying a deadly sleeping sickness, Dr. C. A. Kofoid of the University of California told the Fifth Pacific Science Congress at Vancouver, B. C., recently. Incidentally, he said 600 different kinds of parasites "derive their existence from man."

According to reports received in the office of Agricultural Commissioner A. E. Bottel at Riverside, there will be no overproduction of field and fruit crops in Riverside county this year.

Former Governor C. C. Young of Burlingame recently announced appointment of Frank McVeigh, former manager of the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce and director of the county charter campaign, as director of the San Mateo county renovize campaign. The renovize campaign will have as its object improvements of their property by owners to the extent of $1,125,000. Young heads the campaign committee.

After a second hearing lasting three hours, Governor Rolph signed Assemblyman H. B. Scudder's bill, limiting commercial net fishing for striped bass to three months a year and permitting 105 days of sale. The bill particularly affects commercial netting for striped bass in the Pittsburg and San Francisco Bay Area. Arguments were advanced against the bill by representatives of commercial fishermen of that area. They denied having agreed with legislators and representatives of sportsmen's organizations to the three months' open season.

Hamilton Field, new $5,000,000 army bombing base in Marin county, will be ready for service on July 1, as a vitally important unit of Uncle Sam's coast defense system in the San Francisco Bay region. Operations will begin with a personnel of 35 officers and 150 enlisted men, with nine up-to-the-minuate bombing planes. Opening of the field will climax four years of planning and one of steady construction. In fact, the project has involved about as many details as establishing a good-sized town. For the base has a wide variety of work buildings and handsome homes, eight miles of asphalt pavement, water and sewer systems, nearly three miles of gas mains, complete electric and telephone service, sixty-five electrolier street lights, fire-fighting facilities, even a comprehensive plan of landscape architecture and a nursery to provide trees, shrubs and flowers as needed.

Santa Clara county, which is properly considered a part of the San Francisco Bay district, has not stood still during the three-year business stagnation that affected many parts of the country. In San Jose alone, the capital of the county, building permits totaled more than $6,000,000 with an equal amount for the rest of the county. Some of the outstanding construction work in the county during the last three years is the $5,000,000 United States Naval Air Station; $2,500,000 Agnew State Hospital; $550,000 Hotel de Anza; $425,000 for the new Hale Bros. store; $200,000 Science Building and $200,000 men's gymnasium for the San Jose State College; three junior high schools in San Jose, totaling $750,000; $165,000 for the County Court House; $305,000 new Post Office for San Jose; $50,000 for new State Armory; and approximately $250,000 in subways. During this period a great deal of highway construction has also taken place. Outstanding of which is the $670,000 construction work on the Bayshore Highway in this county alone. Contracts on county roads have amounted to over $120,000 with a total expenditure on highway construction during the three years totaling approximately $2,000,000.

Senate bill 7, introduced by Senators J. W. McKinley, Los Angeles; Nelson T. Edwards, Orange; and Walter H. Duval, Santa Paula making changes in the law regulating mortgages and deeds of trust was signed recently by Governor Rolph. The new law, the Governor said, "should benefit debt laden farm and home owners." Under the new law, notices of trust deeds must be recorded in every county in which any of the property is located and notice of default and of sale must be mailed to every person who records a request for such notice. This is to eliminate the danger of a man's property being sold without his knowledge. The debtor is given an option at any time before the sale or court foreclosure to wipe out the default and reinstate the instrument as though he had made all his payments on time. Under the law the difference between the appraised market value and the amount of the debt rather than the difference between the amount secured at the foreclosure sale and the debt is made the maximum amount of available deficiency. No deficiency judgment can be given on a purchase money trust deed or mortgage on real estate. "This," the Governor said, "should remedy the situation which arises when a man makes a great number of payments on a home and thereafter is unable to keep up the payments. This prevents the creditor from buying the property at bargain rates and suing the debtor for the difference."

Inspections of California vegetable shipments conducted by the Federal-State shipping point inspection service during 1932 were nearly equal to the record figure of 1931 and materially in excess of those during any previous year, according to the annual report of the service just issued at Sacramento. It was also stated that fruit inspections, with the exception of grapes, have remained fairly constant during a period of six years. Inspections for 1932 totaled 44,762, as against 48,366 for 1931.

FIREMEN LEARNING FROM STATE TEACHER

To learn how to teach their men when and how to wear their helmets, how how to avoid heat pressure and sundry things for their own safety, the fire chiefs and their assistants for this district are attending three meetings this week in Oak Grove, where they are being instructed in various lines which they need to know and pass on to other firemen and to the public. The instructor is Colonel Baker of the vocational training department of the University of California.

At Monday night's meeting, twenty-eight problems of the firemen were brought out for discussion and will be thoroughly gone into. The officers will learn and pass on to their men how to use the water to the best advantage, how to care for fire-fighting equipment, the importance of knowing the city water supply, and enforcement of law and order, among many other useful things.

"Personally, I should give more merits for attendance at drills, than for attendance at a fire," said Robert Leidig, Carmel's efficient chief, to a Carmel Sun reporter. "I feel it is more essential that they first learn what to do in case of fire."

Those from Carmel who are attending the meetings are Chief Robert Leidig, chief of fire prevention, Manuel Pereira, assistant chiefs, Vincent Torres and Paul Funchess, Captain Mercurio, Capt. William Askew, and captain of rescue and salvage, B. W. Adams.

Six departments were represented Monday night. The combined years of the officers spent in the fire fighting service was 366, the youngest in service having belonged to his department one year, and the oldest in point of service having served 35 years. The total would have been higher had not Chief Parker of Monterey, a veteran of fifty years' service, been absent attending the chiefs' meeting in Fresno. Carmel's own Chief Leidig is well up in this list with 28 years to his credit.

Tonight the Carmel firemen will enjoy a social meeting at the fire house.

TAP DANCING CLASSES TO START HERE SOON

Despairing looks at the grand new summer clothes need no longer be cast by ladies of uncertain weight, if they will get in touch with Mrs. Ranald Cockburn.

Thin ones and sul-lightly large ones can be brought to par by following the set of exercises and dancing which this young lady is devising for the purpose of bringing the standard of feminine perfection in Carmel up to what the masculine element of the town thinks it should be, but unfortunately is not.

Tap dancing classes, as well as exercises will be one of the means of pursuit of the perfect figure. Classes will meet each Monday and Wednesday evenings, so weep no more, my dears, just get in touch with Mrs. Cockburn.

JOE E. BROWN HERE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

By J. A. Kunstman

Joe E. Brown will be seen on the screen of the Carmel Theatre Sunday and Monday, June 11 and 12, in his latest screen comedy, "Elmer the Great," which is said to be his most uproariously funny of any picture he has appeared in to date.

"Elmer the Great," written by Ring Lardner and George M. Cohan, was a comedy riot on the stage and is said to be even more hilarious as a screen play, because many of the startling sequences which could only be hinted at before the footlights are actually depicted in the picture. Some of the funniest as well as most intense scenes in the picture occur during the playing of the World Series in a downpour of rain.

The plot concerns a hick town boy who develops into the champion batsman of the league. He is also the champion eater and long-time sleeper. His cock-sureness makes him the butt of innumerable jokes by other members of his team. Joe, as Elmer the Great, becomes involved in a love tangle which eventually lands him in jail, and very nearly loses the World's Series championship for his team. How he extricates himself and finally wins both the game and the girl is one of the most exciting as well as the most laughable incidents in a comedy full of riotous situations and fast action.

There is a strong supporting cast, with Patricia Ellis, the new cast with Patricia Ellis, the new sensation of the screen playing the leading feminine role opposite Joe. Others include Frank McHugh, Claire Dodd, Preston S. Foster and Russell Hopton.

"Sister Benvenuta" will be on Friday night and Saturday night at the Community Playhouse, the San Francisco Civic Repertory Guild enacting this delicate and lovely miracle under Edward Kuster's direction. The production made a profound impression on San Francisco's playgoers and press critics and according to reports is a finer piece of work than the original production under the title of "The Nursery Maid of Heaven," at the Theatre of the Golden Bough eight years ago.

An interesting item is that Roberta Leitch, former Carmelite, whose beautiful soprano is now heard by millions over the radio network, will not only sing, as she did in the earlier production, the songs incidental to the play, but will be heard in several added numbers, including Schumann's "The Ring," and Strickland's "At Eve I Heard a Flute."

The Civic Repertory Guild, organized in San Francisco and working under Kuster's stage direction, gave a good account of itself this spring, both in "Sister Benvenuta" and in "Beggars on Horseback," which may be seen here later. The Guild comprises more than a hundred workers in all departments of the theatre, with an advisory board headed by Albert Bender, the well-known patron of art and music. Other names familiar to Carmelites are those of Redfern Mason, Alfred Hertz, Gaetano Merola, Mrs. Sigmund Stern, Noel Sullivan, Mrs. Garrett McEnerney, Mrs. Duncan McDuffie, Mrs. M. C. Sloss and Dr. Robert Sproul, president of the University of California.

Augmenting and cooperating with the San Francisco cast in the group work of "Sister Benvenuta" will be the following local players: Alice and Eugenia Barnickol, Ruth, Marion, Edwina and Betty Pinkham, Geraldine Thiemes, Joyce Whitcomb, Millicent Sears and Gabrielle Kuster. Understudying for Marie Reeds Walker, Wendy Prince will enact the role of Sister Grimana.
